Montgomery's Great Meeting.

Undoubtedly the biggest thing Montgomery has ever had, is the present revival meeting. Evangelist B. Marvin Harris' preaching is plain, practical, pertinent, pointed and personal. "Cry aloud and spare not" is his way of preaching. No man who gives him an honest ear can't help being greatly benighted. It is true, many go about talking against the preacher who tells them the truth in love. The surgeon never apologizes for the keenness of his knife, neither does the evangelist apologize for the truth he speaks in love.

Rev. C. A. Boughton, one of the sweet singers of Israel, undoubtedly plays his part well; no doubt not a few have been sung into the Kingdom through this servant of God. Some one has said, "You may answer my argument but not my song."

Mr. Stover the cornetist has rendered valuable help.

The hearty feeling of brotherly love that exists between the churches is a good omen. Up to the present 123 souls have professed faith in Jesus as their Savior, and the work goes on. Let every one who has a spark of christianity in them, come up to the battle of the Lord.

Fiehlmann-Hollenbeck.

A most beautiful wedding of February 22nd, was that of Miss Emma Fiehlmann to Mr. Florence Hollenbeck, both of High Hill, solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Fiehlmann. The ceremony was performed at 1 o'clock by Rev. P. Aldrich, of St. Charles, in the presence of relatives of the bride and groom. The bride was attended by Misses Elizabeth and Emma Fiehlmann of St. Louis, nieces of the bride. The groomsmen were Mr. Simon Beehmeyer of High Hill, and Mr. Edward Suhre of Big Spring.

The bride's gown was of white Louisea Silk and beautifully made. The bridesmaids were also in white of Persion Lawn. Little Margie and Edna Fiehlmann also nieces of the bride acted as flower girls, and carried large bouquets of white and pink Carnations and American Beauty Roses. The wedding march was played by Benny Beehmeyer.

After receiving congratulations an elaborate dinner was served in the dining room, the table being prettily decorated with ferns and flowers. The bride was showered with many valuable remembrances from all her relatives. The bride is a lovely young lady and highly esteemed by all who know her. The groom is a very industrious young man with excellent habits.

The young couple will go to housekeeping on the H. J. Fiehlmann farm 14 miles east of High Hill. Their friends all wish them prosperity for their present and future happiness in their new home.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Frederika Grabenstein was born in Germany, December, 1819, and died at her home near New Florence, Saturday, Feb. 18, 1905. She came from Germany with her family, to this country 21 years ago. Over 15 years ago her husband preceded her to the grave. She leaves four children to mourn her loss, and many other relatives and friends. She was a member of the German Episcopal church, and all through her life was known as an humble devout christian. For some time she had been a great sufferer. Last September she went to St. Louis to the hospital where she underwent an operation for cancer of the stomach, which gave her relief for only a little while, but all this suffering she bore with the greatest patience. A good woman, a good neighbor, and a good mother has been taken away. It would take some time to recount all her virtues, or to tell the grief of those who knew her and mourn her death. She illustrated how faith can grow confident while this tabernacle of the flesh is perishing day by day. Her trust was in Jesus without a cloud. How earnestly she prayed to go to her Savior. When very weak she had her children kneel at her bedside that she could pray for them. She talked of death complacently. Her life was an exemplary one.

Funeral services were held at the church, near her home Monday at 1 o'clock. X. X. Mrs. Arthur Barnes delightfully entertained the Whist Club last Thursday afternoon. Miss Stella Duffy succeeded in capturing the prize. Mrs. Barnes who is a connoisseur in pleasing the appetite served very delectable refreshments. Those present were Mesdames Walter Snyder of St. Louis, W. W. Worley, J. A. Vogt, A. B. Lall, H. L. Sabourin, and Misses Gertrude Sharp, Stella Duffy and Lucy Nowlin.

Mrs. Anna R. White.

After an illness of two days' duration Mrs. Anna R. White, widow of the late A. H. White, died of heart trouble at the home of her son-in-law, J. C. Whiteside, Sunday afternoon, Feb. 26, 1905, at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. White's death was a shock to the community, for it was thought in the forenoon of the day she died that her condition was much improved and hope was entertained for her recovery.

Anna Rebecca Drace was born Sept. 6, 1837, in Franklin county, Mo. She finished her education at the Seminary at Danville, Mo., under the presidency of Mr. Robinson. She united with the Methodist church at a camp meeting conducted by Bishop Marvin, and was baptized by him in early womanhood. She was married to A. H. White, Dec. 18, 1860, and to them the following nine children were born: Mrs. W. L. Gupton and Mrs. J. C. Whiteside, of Montgomery City; Mrs. C. D. Rodgers, of Mexico, Mo.; Mrs. Theodore Dreiser, of New York City; Arch H. and Miss Ida of Canon City, Colo.; Richard Drace, U. S. F. S. Wisconsin, Cavite, P. I.; F. V. of St. Louis, and Miss Rose, who teaches in our Public School.

By the death of Mrs. White, Montgomery has lost one of her noblest women—one whose personality was lovable in every particular. She was a devout christian of a sunny, hopeful disposition—a christian not merely in adherence to the forms of religion, but in thorough devotion to its principles and practical teachings. Hers was a life replete with good deeds and tender ministrations—a beautiful life of heroic effort and magnificent fruitage. She reared a family of whom any mother would be justly proud, and has left them the rarest legacy a mother can bestow—the impress of a christian life.

The funeral services were conducted at the Methodist church Tuesday afternoon, by Bro. Smith, assisted by the ministers of town, and by Mr. Harris, the evangelist, and Mr. Boughton, the sweet singer. The remains were laid to rest at five o'clock in the city cemetery, in the presence of all the children, except Richard, who was too far away to attend.

Besides her nine children, she leaves four brothers, four sisters and sixteen grandchildren to mourn their loss and cherish her memory. They have the sincere sympathy of a host of friends in this their affliction.
